

Specialized Services for Children and Youth invites you to join us for Breakfast at SSCY, our monthly learning series!

Topic: ASD, ADHD, and Parent-Child Relationships

Presented by: Dr. Jen Theule, Brenna Henrikson, Karis Cochrane and Michelle Ward

The relationship that exists between parent and child has long been shown to predict how children navigate the world around them. While research has established a clear link between parent-child relationships and parent/child outcomes, this relationship has unique implications when explored within the context of autism spectrum disorder (ASD) and attention-deficit/hyperactivity disorder (ADHD). Our presentation will review findings from research exploring parent-child relationships among mothers of children with ASD and/or ADHD.

Learning Objectives:

- How do shared characteristics between a mother and her child interact to impact parenting outcomes in families of children with ASD/ADHD?
- Which parenting styles are related to greater or lesser levels of parenting stress and family quality of life in parents of children with ASD?
- How do parents of children with ASD understand the underlying reasons for their child's behavior?
